

Let's Talk About Infrahuman Intelligence

Date: Tuesday, 9 March, 2010 / Time: 13:00 ~ 17:45
Venue: North Building Hall of Keio University, Mita Campus

Chair: Hans-Joachim Bischof (University of Bielefeld)

- 13:00-13:10 Introductory Remarks
Shigeru Watanabe (Keio University & CHC)
- 13:10-13:50 Sociality in cephalopods:
endeavoring to look through mirror image reactions
Yuzuru Ikeda (Ryukyu University)
- 13:50-14:30 Developmental psychology of fishes with emphasis on their schooling behavior and learning capability
Reiji Masuda (Kyoto University)
- 14:30-15:10 A fish's-eye view of human emotion
Tazu Aoki (RIKEN Brain Science Institute)
- 15:30-16:10 Is spontaneous string pulling by birds really insightful behaviour?
Gavin Hunt (The University of Auckland)
- 16:10-16:50 Power of 0.5 gram brain
-behavioral analysis of the mouse brain-
Shigeru Watanabe (Keio University & CHC)
- 16:50-17:30 Physical understanding and learning
by common marmosets
Yumiko Yamazaki (Keio University & RIKEN Brain Science Institute)

17:30-17:45 Overall Discussion & Concluding Remarks

FREE AND OPEN TO THE PUBLIC

Language : English (no interpretation provided)

Organizer : KEIO-RIKEN Research Centre for Human Cognition (CHC)

Contact for inquiries : human-cognition@adst.keio.ac.jp

For more information, visit : <http://www.carls.keio.ac.jp/>

(Keio University Global COE Program "Center for Advanced Research on Logic and Sensibility")

Note: the programme is subject to change